Competence Rationale

GX is a well-organized company with separate Business Units, according to the organization chart as provided below. Our organization is engaged with global customer and supporting more than 300 accounts today. The GX Group organization has already successfully delivered and executed major project deliveries with larger shipments, based on customer specific requirements.

The resource levels are determined in the most efficient way, by having functional structure that provides the employees as well as their appropriate departments with a clear objective.

Competence level

GX focus is to manage a high level of competence, with a combination of long experience in the field and higher education. Our aim is to deliver high quality products, supported by our own Research and Development, which involves senior employees with PhD background in the Management category and have more than 100 employees in the organisation

Operation operates the entire Logistics and supply chain of the company, with resources and competence that can manage both large and small deliveries. As market leader in the FTTH CPE we have shipped more then 4 Million units and we are continuing expanding the business and organization.
